

Meet the Bloggers

Maya Bisineer is the founder of memetales.com - an online marketplace to read children's books, discover crafts and share creativity. She is President of Mom It Forward, Director of Education at Social Media Club, Seattle and an Advisory Board Member at Everett CC Digital Arts Program. She lives in Bellevue with her 2 girls (2 and 3.5 years) and a wonderfully supportive husband. Her Twitter handle is @thinkmaya and her blog is <http://thinkmaya.com>.

Leslie "Flinger" blogs at mrs.flinger.us and has been over-sharing on the net for seven years. She is a full time working mom to two young children, 5-year-old daughter and 2-year-old son. She regularly tweets @MrsFlinger and can be found pseudo-mocking life in code. She believes in local community, gardening, and eating well but isn't sure how to balance all those things and her nightly cocktail yet.

Taraneh Guidry is a happily married mom of two from the Bothell area of Seattle. She has an 8-month-old son, and an 8-year-old daughter. She is a full time working mom, and just started blogging in September 2009. Her professional background is in event planning, marketing and technology. Her Twitter handle is @seattlemommy and her blog is seattlemommy.com.

Jenny Ingram is the mother of 3 nutty kids. She has a 10-year-old boy, and two daughters ages 7 (almost 8) and 5. Jenny writes at jennyonthespot.com, where she glorifies glitter, coffee, motherhood and whathaveyou. She founded and writes for The Mom Squad, a 5-mom reader blog with the Kitsap Sun. She gets her baby fix writing titles and captions for babiesmakingfaces.com. She is also the social media manager for mindbloom.com. Yes, she is tired, but happy. You can also find her on Twitter @jennyonthespot.

Giyen Kim pens a blog called Bacon Is My Enemy and vlogs at Momversation.com. She has been featured in CNN.com, Headlines News, Oprah Winfrey Show and the KoreAm Journal. When she is not writing, you can find her mucking about Vashon Island, where she currently lives with her 15 year old daughter, Paige or on Twitter @Giyen.

Brett Nordquist started blogging about technology in 1999 but later refocused his writing around fatherhood and the observations and adventures that come with helping raise four children, ages 9, 7, 5 and 2. Brett is the Technical Operations Manager for CompuCom. His group of technicians manages all technical aspects for nearly 500 annual events for Microsoft. Brett holds a B.A. degree in German from the University of Utah. Brett and his family live in Auburn, WA. Find him online at <http://blog.nordquist.org> and on Twitter @Akula.

Jen Zug lives in Renton with her husband, 7-year-old daughter, 5-year-old son, and a dog who won't stay out of the trash can. By day Jen is Creative Director at Lilipip!, a local start-up animation studio, and by night she ignores her personal blog, The Pile I'm Standing In (www.thispile.com). She also writes for the Cheezburger network at Babysaur.com, a blog about all the baby products that would have come in handy a few years ago had she known about them. You can find Jen on Twitter using the highly creative handle, @jenzug.